Terence Miller Receives Association of International Education Administrator's 2017 Timothy J. Rutenber Award

Washington, DC – February 28, 2017 – The Association of International Education Administrators (AIEA) is pleased to recognize Terence Miller, Director of the Office of International Education at Marquette University, as recipient of the 2017 Timothy J. Rutenber Award.

The Timothy J. Rutenber Award is an award honoring AIEA members who have rendered long-term and outstanding service to the Association. This award is named for the late Timothy J. Rutenber, who served as Director of the Secretariat and Treasurer of AIEA until his death in 2004. A member of AIEA since 1992, Rutenber was an outstanding manager of the day-to-day affairs of AIEA and a wise steward of the Association's resources. His work on behalf of AIEA epitomizes the ideal of service excellence. In his name, awardees are recognized at the Annual Conference for truly exceptional service of long duration to AIEA.

The 2017 recipient, Terence Miller, has been the ex-officio Legal Advisor on the AIEA Board since 2013, but his commitment to AIEA dates back to 1998 when he first joined the association. Through the years, he served on the Membership committee from 2007 to 2011, the Awards Committee from 2012 to 2013 and as Chair in 2014, the Conference Planning committee in 2013, 2015 and 2016, and he has chaired the Audit Committee since 2015.

In each of these roles, the AIEA leadership could always count on Dr. Miller's consistent and constructive contributions. He is among the most consistently and actively contributing committee members, committed to attending all meetings, and always providing valuable advice and ideas. Dr. Miller provides his pro bono legal advice during the board meetings and as needed by the AIEA leadership, a significant contribution to the Association.

Dr. Miller is also a very active Senior International Officer at Marquette University in Milwaukee, where he manages a comprehensive international office with the mandate to enhance education abroad, provide international student and scholar services, offer English as a Second Language programs and develop and manage strategic partnerships. Dr. Miller received his Juris Doctorate from St. John's University in 1981.

His associative work spans over more than 25 years of professional and voluntary involvement with associations in international education (AIEA, NAFSA, Jesuit Commons, Rufus King International High School Governance Council), as well as with human rights, law, and international development associations (American Society for International Law, Washington Office on Africa, Churches for Middle East Peace Board of Directors, and the Asia-Pacific Center for Justice and Peace, among others).

Dr. Miller has demonstrated and continues to demonstrate a deep commitment to the Association of International Education Administrators through long-term and valuable service to the association. He is highly deserving of recognition through the 2017 Rutenber Award.

About AIEA
