

From Seed to Sustainability

Growing and Maintaining International Partnerships with 100K Strong in the Americas

Nathan Carpenter
Director, Global Education and International Services

NCC + University of Trujillo + WindAid

Sustainable energy
Technical training
HVAC/Welding + Communication

FALL 2013

Northampton

Community College Magazine
www.northampton.edu

NCC + SENA

Sustainable Food
Global studies track

Fit, institutional goals, and having the right players matter

NCC + ITCA Fepade

Hybrid study abroad
SDGs
Cross-disciplinary design thinking

Build the partnership. You'll find funding.

What will be your long-term impact?

Student participation

Credit-bearing courses

New SA position

Donor funding

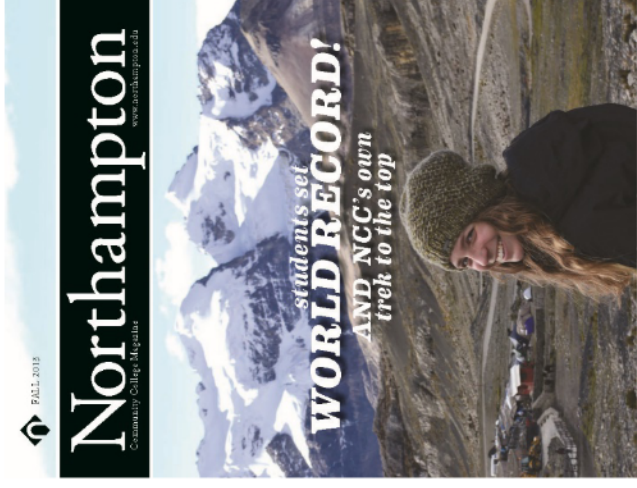

Global Studies program

Faculty exchanges

On-campus opportunities

Faculty engagement

Alumni involvement

Find the right faculty
(but it is not enough)

Develop project-based programs
(but invite non-majors)

Let students speak

Tell the story (to colleagues and community)

PASA

Sustainable Agriculture

Perspectives

Powered by 100,000 strong

In the summer of 2017 I was working on a farm in Elizabeth, NJ, and learning of new adventures in Honduras. I had a chance to work toward my dream of becoming a professional chef. I thought I was just the first big step in my career, but I was wrong. I was just the first of many.

When I heard about the opportunity, I knew I had to take it. I had been working in the food industry for years, and I was looking for a new challenge. I had heard that Honduras was a great place to work, and I was looking for a new adventure. I had heard that Honduras was a great place to work, and I was looking for a new adventure.

The 100,000 Strong is the American Incentive Fund's program that provides training and education for young adults in Honduras. The program is a partnership between the U.S. Department of Education, the U.S. Department of State, and the U.S. Agency for International Development. The program is a partnership between the U.S. Department of Education, the U.S. Department of State, and the U.S. Agency for International Development.

When I heard about the opportunity, I knew I had to take it. I had been working in the food industry for years, and I was looking for a new challenge. I had heard that Honduras was a great place to work, and I was looking for a new adventure. I had heard that Honduras was a great place to work, and I was looking for a new adventure.

By JAMIE
BATCHFORD
JOURNALISM, MEDIA
AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

From Seed to Sustainability

Growing and Maintaining International Partnerships with 100K Strong in the Americas

Nathan Carpenter
Director, Global Education and International Services